Charles Ferguson owned and operated several guard dog companies until he was convicted of multiple felony and misdemeanor animal cruelty charges in 2013. spcaLA investigators discovered the decaying bodies of deceased dogs inside the compartments of Ferguson’s transport trucks at Ferguson’s Gardena property. A subsequent interagency investigation unearthed evidence of horrible mistreatment and agonizing deaths of his working dogs. Ferguson’s sentence included probation, conditions of which specify he is not to own, possess, or maintain dogs.

Possible locations include: Construction sites, Auto shops, malls, industrial facilities, and manufacturing plants
